What's Happening

Fossil Talk

Theme will be Dinosaurs and we look forward to welcoming our resident expert, Mrs. Brown, to share her knowledge and contagious enthusiasm.

Top Secret Project

May 6, starting at 9:30 AM, the kids will be working on a very special, top secret project! We could use some help from Dads or Grandparents so please let us know if you can help.

Mother's Day Tea

Mark your calendars now for this very special event where the students will pamper their Moms! It will be on Friday, May 10 starting at 10:45 AM. We hope to see you there.

Teacher's Corner

I am so happy to welcome all of you back from a well-deserved Spring Break.

It is a lot to jump back into school and head right to the pool for our swimming lessons, so I want to thank you for your patience and flexibility - I am very impressed with how well we tackled the first one.

For any of you still looking to meet with me to discuss your child's progress - reach out to me with a time that works best for you. I'd be more than happy to meet before or after school - and could even pop out during our morning together to chat.

We are starting this month off with some spring planting. This year, we are participating in the Tomatosphere program. We have been gifted two packets of tomato seeds to be planted - one packet are just typical tomato seeds, the other has spent time at the International Space Station. We won't know which one is which until we've spent time recording our results!

From talks of Earth and outer space, a word has come up in our wonderings. The kindergarten students have introduced the word "ancient" into our vocabulary. With that introduction, we are starting to explore the "ancient" things that can be found around us - including dinosaur bones and castle ruins.

As discussed throughout our parent-teacher conferences, I will be initiating a Home Reading program in the coming weeks. Our students are so excited to show off their skills they've been working hard on all year long. If, for any reason you would like to "opt out", don't hesitate to let me know.

It should be another jam-packed month in Kindergarten. Know that with Mystery Readers winding down, we are always looking for parents and grandparents to join us in our classroom fun!

Lindsay.
